Clear Debris In Wake Of Storm At Philadelphia

Estimate Loss In Terrific Downpour And Storm At $1,000,000

ONE MAN DROWNS IN FLOODED AREA

Norristown Also Feels Effects Of Storm—Many Flee Homes

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, July 15.—Firemen, police, home owners and shopkeepers in this city and vicinity were busy today clearing away the mass of wreckage left in the wake of a terrific downpour, riding on the wings of a 60-mile-an-hour gale and accompanied by an unparalleled electrical display which swept over this section during the night causing damage estimated at $1,000,000, and claiming the life of one man.

Homes and shops in the Logan section of the city were flooded by the terrific downpour. The Broad street subway was flooded and north bound service was suspended in North Philadelphia. Residents of the Frankford section battled for hours to prevent the surging waters from inundating their homes.

Flee to Second Floors. Many were forced to flee to the second and attic floors of their homes to escape the rushing torrent. On the crest of the flood waters, sweeping toward the partly submerged Winghooking street bridge, Police Sergeant John T. Perry recovered the body of Evans Young, 30, who lived nearby, and is believed to have been drowned when the flood invaded his home.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Word from the state's public service commission is now being awaited by city and railroad authorities to determine whether or not automatic flasher lights may be installed at the Pennsylvania's Croton avenue crossing as a substitute for a watchman who now attends the gates. The decision is expected soon.

Seems that most everyone camped on their porches or on the lawn last night until the wee hours of the morning to avoid the heat inside and enjoy what little breeze was blowing outside.

Repairs to different downtown thoroughfares are being on at the present time. The work is the result of excavations made necessary by gas line repair work.

Watch Weather Closely; 'Tis St. Swithins' Day

(International News Service) Pennsylvania residents, in common with the rest of the nation, scanned weather reports with unwonted interest today.

Sunny skies and a forecast of fair and continued warm ushered in St. Swithin's day which, according to tradition, serves as an indication of the weather to come.

Weather bureau observers and those skeptical of tradition expressed considerable doubt of the influence of St. Swithin's day on the weather. Others, however, held to the spirit of the old rhyme which runs:

"St. Swithin's Day, if thou dost rain,
For forty days it will remain.
St. Swithin's Day, if thou be fair,
For forty days 'twill rain nae mair."

Rain for forty consecutive days was presaged today by believers in the legend of St. Swithin's Day. Atmospheric phenomena today, according to tradition, forecast the weather for the next forty days.

Rain fell sporadically throughout the Western Pennsylvania section, tempering to a small degree the oppressive heat wave which had claimed two lives in the Pittsburgh district.

BOMB WRECKS HOUSE AT EAST McKEESPORT

(BULLETIN) (International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 15.—Seven persons were killed and many others injured today when a bomb, exploding with a terrific roar, ripped through a two-story frame house in East McKeesport. Walls of the home sagged inward and crumpled under the force of the blast.

The house was owned by Orrest Crystal, manager of the Blue Moon dance hall and barbeque on the Lincoln highway.

Two large pieces of timber were blown across a 50-foot lot and thru the wall of the home of Dick Mackey. Another piece crashed through a window and into the bedroom of Mackey's two small daughters. Neither child was at home.

Jack 'Legs' Diamond Again Escapes 'Rap' For Torture Of Farmer

OTHER CHARGES ARE PENDING

(International News Service) TROY, N. Y., July 15.—Jack "Legs" Diamond, New York racketeer, was a free man today. He was acquitted here last night of charges that he tortured Grover Parks, farmer-truckman, on April 16.

The jury deliberated one hour and 52 minutes. It was the eighteenth time Diamond had "beat the rap."

Diamond sank exhausted in his chair when he was discharged. He was released in the same status as before the trial under $55,000 bail. Four other indictments are pending against the racketeer but the prosecution announced it was not ready to go to trial in these cases.

(International News Service) PARIS, July 15.—Col. Henry L. Stimson, United States secretary of state, arrived in Paris from Rome with Mrs. Stimson this afternoon.

They were greeted at the station by Ambassador Walter E. Edge and the entire embassy staff. "It has been a wonderful trip so far," Stimson said. "I have nothing to say, especially since I am here to listen, not to talk."

The secretary proceeded immediately to the embassy. It was understood he would meet with French officials later in the day.

Undecided Upon Miners Request For Conference

Secretaries Lamont And Doak Desire More Information About Industry

HOOVER URGED TO CALL CONFERENCE

United Miners Desire Meeting To Work Out Plans For Stabilization

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, July 15.—The request of the United Mine Workers of America to President Hoover to call a national conference of bituminous coal operators and miners to work out plans for stabilizing the industry today was still undecided.

After more than six hours of conferences between officials of the miners' organization and secretary of labor Doak and secretary of commerce Lamont, extending over two days, Doak said "other interested parties" would have to be consulted before the two cabinet members could make recommendations to the President about the conference.

Doak declined to indicate who the "other interested parties" were, but it is believed they constitute another group of operators. Those who conferred here last week with Doak and Lamont turned "thumbs down" on the proposal for a national conference on the ground it would have no effect in bettering conditions in the industry.

Cases Presented. The labor secretary said John L. Lewis, president of the miners' organization, and 12 other union officials had "very ably" presented their case, but he and Lamont want more information concerning the industry's plight.

"We stand by the request we made to President Hoover on July 11 for a national conference at which operators should be told they should recognize the right of their workers to assemble, that they should deal directly with the miners through their accredited representatives, and that they should erect a wage structure in the industry that would stabilize it," Lewis said.

Heat Takes Two Lives In Pittsburgh

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, July 15.—A recurrence of the oppressive heat wave which has gripped the greater Pittsburgh area today had exacted a toll of two lives as it sent mercuries climbing, according to reports from the coroner's office.

Mrs. Marie Polladino, 47, collapsed in her home and died a few minutes later, a heart attack superinduced by the heat being given as the cause of death in the coroner's report. Donald Morris, 10, of North Bradock, was drowned when he sought relief from the heat while bathing in the Monongahela river.

British Balking At New Demands On Germany As Presented By French

(International News Service) LONDON, July 15.—British opinion veered sharply in favor of Germany today.

After having supported the French demands that Germany abandon the projected customs' union with Austria and her naval programme, the British balked at new demands said to have been communicated to the Germans at Basle.

These demands were reported to have included international control of German finances by a commission headed by S. Parker Gilbert, former agent general of reparations. Bitterness against France for obstructing efforts to prevent a financial crash in Germany became widespread here today. The press was agreed that France had intensified the trouble in Germany by delaying execution of the Hoover plan for a moratorium.

Slaying Occurs But Twelve Feet From State Line

Ohio Authorities Forced To Probe Slaying Of Cleveland Racketeer

MERCER COUNTY MEN "LET" OUT

(International News Service) SHARON, Pa., July 15.—Police authorities in Trumbull county, Ohio, today were charged with the task of solving the racketeer slaying of Dave Andert of Cleveland and the serious wounding of his companion Joseph Blank, also of Cleveland, as it was definitely established that the attack occurred in Ohio territory.

The short distance of 12 feet saved Mercer county, Pennsylvania, authorities from becoming involved in the investigation. County officials from the two states met in conference and determined the "death spot" for the purpose of official investigation.

Police expressed the opinion that gangsters who "took the two men for a ride" planned to have their bodies found in Pennsylvania territory in order to complicate the resultant investigation.

Blank, confined to the Buhl hospital here, was conceded a good chance for recovery as he continued to show slight improvement. He was wounded three times, one of the slugs coursing through the body near the heart.

Sheriff J. C. Riser of Trumbull county said the two men were met by their attackers in Youngstown. They are believed to have been shot as they were thrown from an automobile along a little-traveled road which branches into the Sharon-Youngstown highway.

National Agreement To Lay Basis For Adequate Wages Is Urged

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, July 15.—Thoroughly aroused by recurring violence in the bituminous coal strike, state police today began an investigation into an armed effort to halt a busload of strikebreakers near the West Virginia line yesterday.

While leaders of the United Mine Workers of America conferred with Secretary of Labor Doak in Washington, occupants of a highpowered automobile opened fire on the strikebreakers as their car raced past the bus at West Alexandria, Pa.

Although the front and rear of the bus were splattered with bullets none of the strikebreakers was injured. Anonymous threats to cease importing strikebreakers were reported to have been received recently by Burns & Church of Wheeling, operators of the bus.

Accused Woman Slayer Unmoved

Steubenville Woman, On Trial For Murder Of Patrolman Lover

STATE DEMANDS DEATH PENALTY

(International News Service) STEUBENVILLE, O., July 15.—With the prosecution demanding the death penalty and asserting evidence would be brought forward to prove Mrs. Edna James, 27, divorcee, had planned to kill Patrolman Raymond Castner, 28, the trial of the accused woman moved swiftly today with the presentation of commonwealth testimony.

Through letters and diaries, Special Assistant Prosecutor John D. Gardner said, the state will endeavor to prove Mrs. James planned to kill Castner and commit suicide because he was breaking up their illicit love affair. Gardner said the state will attempt to show the woman's suicide try failed.

Defense counsel Hugo Chestosky, in outlining the defense, charged that Castner shot Mrs. James and then himself and declared that the state had resorted to their degree methods in building up its case.

Ten men and two women formed the jury. Mrs. Castner was unmoved as she accompanied the jurors to the scene of the patrolman's death. Huge crowds have stormed the court house to witness the trial.

Thomas Continues Denying Charges Hurling By Engle

Mahoning County Prosecutor Resumes Testimony In His Own Behalf Today

CONTENDS ENGLE SOUGHT HIS AID

(International News Service)
YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 15.—Ray L. Thomas, the Mahoning county prosecutor, on trial charged with the attempted blackmail of Harry Engle, the former traction commissioner, today was to continue testimony in his own behalf following his steadfast denial that he had ever entered the present utilities situation in any but his official capacity.

The prosecutor gave a detailed account of his business relations with Engle, the witness in chief against him, since they first met January 22, 1930. Thomas denied that he had ever acted as counsel for Engle in his attempts to collect secret remuneration from officers of the Ohio-Edison company. During the time they conferred together on the utilities situation, Thomas testified he was attempting to gain sufficient evidence against Engle to lay his case before a grand jury.

Thomas said that three months' contact with Engle convinced him that the traction commissioner was attempting to use the prosecutor's office to blackmail the Commonwealth-Southern company, a holding company for Youngstown utilities.

Claims Preposterous

The defendant declared he had informed Engle that an attempt to collect from the Ohio-Edison company on the secret "A and B" contract would result in a jail sentence for the commissioner and that the claims were preposterous. Later, Engle came to him with a letter, Thomas said, demanding a grand jury investigation of the Pennsylvania-Ohio Power and Light company which the commissioner claimed was bribing city officials.

When Engle demanded that Thomas take the letter to officials of the Power company, Thomas said he countered with a demand for a statement from Engle outlining his relations with utility companies. Engle refused and from that time on, the prosecutor told how he had conducted a series of fictitious campaigns suggested by Engle against the power companies in his attempt to get the statement from the city commissioner.

the response so far has been rather slim. Any persons having jars, no matter how few, are asked to call 5084 or to bring them to the offices of the Red Cross or Associated Charities.

Good progress is being made in the grading of Blaine street which is to be paved between Park avenue and Moody avenue, and if the present progress is maintained, the grading work should be completed this week.

PA New notes that the concreting of County Line street is now completed, and the remainder of the work will be rushed to completion as rapidly as possible. This will make a fine street when completed, the street car tracks having been removed to the center of the street.

Tom Thumb golf has sort of lost its attraction, PA New observes, but many local driving courses are still doing a good business. Evidently most people get a great amount of satisfaction out of stepping up and socking the ball, just as they appreciate seeing a baseball player hit one over the fence.

Lawrence County farmers are in the midst of the harvest season, and from now until fall, they will be kept extremely busy. Crops are bountiful this year, and the farmers of the county will have no difficulty in filling their barns and granaries.

Although there has been no rain in the local district for several days, the Shenango River rose two-tenths of a foot during the last 24 hours. Evidently, there was a good rain in the upper reaches of the Shenango over the week end.

VON HINDENBURG LEADS GERMANY'S SELF-HELP BATTLE

front as Field Marshal in the frenzied war years.

Still the "staunch oak" of German public life despite his advanced years, President Von Hindenburg lost no time in taking active control of the situation. His return was the opening gun in a battle of "self help" by which the German people hope to extricate themselves from the economic plight that has aroused the entire world.

Summons Chancellor
Von Hindenburg immediately summoned Chancellor Heinrich Brüning to the presidential palace to report in full upon the situation. Simultaneously, the board of directors of the Reichsbank met in extraordinary session to discuss further internal measures to prevent the flight of capital from Germany and stave off the bankruptcy threatening the Reich.

The return of President Von Hindenburg had a reassuring effect upon the German people, and a resigned calm today replaced the numbing pall of inactivity that descended upon the capital when the failure of one of the nation's largest banks precipitated the present alarming crisis.

While conversations were due to take place in Paris between French, British and American statesmen regarding the German situation, political and financial leaders here thoroughly thrashed out all possible means of escape from economic disaster.

It was learned by International News Service that contemplated resuscitation of the Rentenmark, the alternative currency issued during the 1923 inflation period, has now been dropped, as well as the projected scheme for a domestic moratorium.

Instead, the cabinet was expected to formulate a decree regulating the sale and purchase of foreign exchange, which is stringently enforced would amount in effect to a partial moratorium of private and foreign debts.

By WALTER DIETZEL
International News Service Staff Correspondent
Berlin, July 15.—An ominous calm brooded over Germany and Central Europe today as statesmen and economists in Berlin, Paris and London strove feverishly to avert a German collapse that would reverberate round the world.

German bitterness against France grew as that country's cabinet and bankers continued to hold up the International loan which England and the United States seemed prepared to participate in if the cooperation of France was secured.

Hope To Avert Collapse
Although the Hoover moratorium went into effect today, new difficulties and obligations forced the German cabinet today to make plans to further measures to protect the country's crumbling financial structure.

While hope was expressed here that Arthur Henderson, British Foreign Secretary, and Henry L. Stimson, American Secretary of State, would be able to influence the French government toward a more lenient attitude, the German government resolved to take every step possible to prevent a collapse.

From various parts of Europe came reports of bank failures showing the far-reaching effects of the crisis. Hungarian banks were closed by government order. In Rumania, M. Manolescu, Minister of Commerce and Industry, was appointed governor of the country's central bank with dictatorial powers as the result of the failure yesterday of the Bank of Dacia at Jassy. At Vienna, the closing of the Mercur bank caused extreme uneasiness among depositors.

Two banks in Latvia and one in Danzig have closed their doors. Another institution failed at Geneva.

Franco-American Conference
PARIS, July 15.—A second Franco-American conference on the German economic situation was anticipated here today when news was received that Colonel Stimson, of the American Department of State, was on his way to Paris from Rome.

Upon his arrival today he was expected to see Premier Laval and Foreign Minister Arthur Henderson. Great Britain, who arrived in Paris yesterday enroute to Berlin where he will join Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald in a visit to Dr. Brüning.

While France apparently seemed determined not to go to Germany's assistance without receiving political guarantees, it was hoped that Secretary Stimson might propose some method of effecting a Franco-German accord.

Moratorium Saves Day
Washington, July 15.—Germany, on the brink of financial ruin, was saved paying into the Bank for International Settlements today, 135,700,000 Reichsmarks, because the Hoover debt holiday was in effect. This sum represents this month's payment due the fifteenth of each month.

Acting Secretary of State Castle declared that if the President's proposal for the debt holiday had not been made, and Germany had been unable to make the payments, it would have meant a break down of the Young plan. Castle said that while no one knew what the attitude of the Young plan signatories would have been under such a contingency, it would have meant a default which might have had serious international consequences—an international strain which today does not exist.

Await Developments
New York, July 15.—Announcement of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York of the renewal of its part of the $100,000,000 credit to the Reichsbank, which was due tomorrow, was taken by bankers today to indicate no additional Central bank credit for Germany would be made at this time.

Bankers here held the German situation has passed to the stage of inter-government negotiation. Later private banking interests may aid.

BERLIN, July 15.—As one of the first steps in Germany's recovery from her economic debacle, Dr. Hans Luther, president of the Reichsbank, will be asked to tender his resignation on the grounds of "technical inadequacy," International News Service was reliably informed this afternoon.

Shortly after President Von Hindenburg returned from his summer home in East Prussia to take command of the tangled situation, it became increasingly evident that Dr. Luther's fall was inevitable. If certain conditions can be met, Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, former president of the Reichsbank and unceasing foe of "politics in economics," will be reinstated in this post as Luther's successor.

Basle, Switzerland, July 15.—Germany's interest charges on the Dawes and Young loans were paid into the Bank of International Settlements today.

The unconditional annuity, due today, had not been received up to a late hour, but the payment was not actually due until four p. m. The funds, under an agreement reached subsequent to the Hoover moratorium, will be converted immediately into German railway bonds and loaned back to the Reich.

Prosperity Note For Railroads Is Sounded By Davis

Senator James J. Davis, Is Speaker At Picnic Of Brotherhood Of Trainmen

NATION NEEDS GOOD RAILROADS

Contents That Oblivion For Railroads By Motor Buses And Planes, Far Distant

(International News Service)
HERSHEY PARK, Pa., July 15.—A note of encouragement for the railroads was sounded here today by Senator Davis (R) of Pennsylvania in an address at the annual picnic gathering of the Pennsylvania Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Despite competition from the motor bus and airplane, he predicted, the railroads would come into their own as large earners when prosperity is restored.

"Oblivion for the railroads of our nation is so far distant," said Davis, "that our great grandchildren may not observe such a calamity."

Need Railroads.
He declared the national existence was so dependent on the railroads that commerce and industry would be seriously retarded if operation were suspended even for a few days. "The railroad is the nearly every other unit in our economic structure have been hard hit by the effects of the business depression which gripped the world at large and from which this nation is steadily recovering," Davis said. "And, when full stabilization of brisk business conditions again bless our nation, our railroads will enjoy a fair share of the national prosperity."

"The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, the officials of the various railroads and their stockholders then will have cause to forget the lean days of this period of business depression. But, even these groups so intimately connected with our railroads will have no greater cause for elation than nearly every person for nearly every one in the United States is a silent stockholder in the railroads, inasmuch as most of the stock in these carrier systems is held by our life insurance companies, our savings and national banks, our building and loan associations and our fraternal organizations.

"Many of our larger transportation systems already have taken substantial steps to profitably meet present day competition from buses, motor trucks and airplanes. These roads are electrifying their right-of-way, besides entering a partnership with bus and airplane companies."

The home of John Chincilla, who has been working steadily at the Midland mine of the Pittsburgh Coal company, was destroyed by fire. Police said the fire was of incendiary origin.

An unexploded bomb was found in the home of Mike Pehulik, who is under $2,500 bond on a charge of dynamiting a miner's home recently. Dr. Colston E. Warner, Amherst college professor and student of the coal industry, ended a two-day tour of the strike area yesterday and urged a national agreement to lay the basis for adequate wages throughout the entire industry as the only hope of relief for the miners.

A few minutes after the men ran from the house and drove away the explosion occurred.

Three Employees Of State Dismissed

Governor Pinchot Lops Off Three More At Harrisburg—New Appointments Made

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, July 15.—Dismissal of three state employees, whose "firing" had not been previously announced, was disclosed here today.

Meade D. Detweiler, candidate for register of wills on a Dauphin county slate opposing one backed by forces supporting Gov. Gifford Pinchot, was dismissed as safety engineer for the state workmen's insurance fund "in the interest of economy" he was informed at midnight in a telegram sent to him by Dr. A. M. Northrop, secretary of labor and industry. The insurance fund is headed by W. J. Stieler, Jr., Pinchot leader in Dauphin county.

Detweiler, during the campaign for the governorship last year, was Pinchot chairman in Penbrook, a nearby suburb. He is a world war veteran and son of a former district attorney of Dauphin county.

Another dismissal revealed today was that of Arthur B. Wagner, of Harrisburg, as chief clerk in the bureau of engineering of the department of health. He is succeeded by George F. Gorman, candidate for school director here on the Administration-Supported ticket.

The third dismissal which came to light was that of Ray L. Huff, of Pittsburgh, as chief of the bureau of restoration in the department of welfare. Huff will be replaced by B. L. Scott, Philadelphia, who headed the bureau in the first Pinchot administration.

Railroads Have Been Hit Hard

Dr. Julius H. Parmelee, Makes Statement On Freight Rates

By HARRY WARD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 15.—The railroads have waged a continuous battle against economic odds over which they have little or no control, Dr. Julius H. Parmelee, director of the bureau of railway economics, told the interstate commerce commission today at the hearing on the railroad's petition for a 15 per cent increase in freight rates.

"Despite the most rigorous economy and the greatest operating efficiency on record, the American railroads have not been able to make a fair living during the past decade and their future ability to serve the public adequately is seriously threatened unless additional income is forthcoming," he said.

THE SMALL TOWN

ONE frequently hears the complaint voiced by the very young members of the community that they are fed up with the small town and that they long to get out into the big world where they could do things and enjoy life to the full.

Only experience can teach that these juvenile hopes and aspirations are in the majority of cases doomed to bitter disappointment in the realization of what the great outside world holds in store. The majority of this juvenile army of longers after life and excitement come to the stage where they would give anything to get back to the simpler pleasures and real friends of the small town only to find that they are carried by a current which renders the backward swim a feat impossible of accomplishment.

Perhaps the restless youngsters are old enough, and big enough, and know enough to care for themselves, but it usually is the case that those who brag about being able to care for themselves are the ones who need the most restraining.

While those who have gone through the experience can sympathize with those who chafe at the confines and restrictions of a "little burg," yet they can assure the young people of today that they have in that "little burg" nearly all the things and nearly all the opportunities which the young folks of a couple of decades ago thought they had to go to the big city to get. Young folks of today have pleasures and opportunities manifold greater than those which were presented to the young folks of yesterday. In the "little burg" today are all the things that would have made contented the young folks of yesterday.

The girl or boy of today who hasn't an automobile in the family feels that Providence has been very unkind to him. In days not so very long ago the two-horse rig that could be driven with one hand was thought quite sufficient for a Sunday afternoon's pleasure. We didn't get quite so far along on the road but the time didn't drag on our hands and the road seemed short enough.

When those now in middle age were young there were no moving picture theaters and unless they moved out of the "little burg" they had no chance to see a good show, but looking back through the years the little family parties and taffy pulls, almost never heard of now, seem to have been far from unpleasant affairs and to have possessed pleasant features.

CHILDREN'S MONEY

Here's a break for children. Authorities on child-rearing have discovered that thrift can be overdone. Teaching children to put all their pennies in a bank is teaching them to be misers and does not train them in good financial habits. The federal children's bureau, in a study entitled "The Child and His Money," sets forth the new theories, along with suggestions for sound financial training.

1. Give the child a regular fixed allowance; each him not to beg or tease for more.
2. Let him learn by experience that denial must follow extravagance.
3. Teach him not to expect pay for duties he ought to perform.
4. Encourage him to earn extra money by giving him a real job and pay him no more and no less than it is worth.
5. Be sure any remunerative work he does is not physically harmful and does not expose him to wrong influences.
6. Don't "tip" him for services to his elders or for being good.
7. Teach him to save for a definite purpose, not merely to save. Let him learn the folly of spending all his money at once and going into debt by buy something he wants.
8. Teach him that saving things which cost money is as important as saving money.
9. Help him to realize the importance of giving as well as spending and saving.
10. Remember that the example of financial responsibility parents set will influence the child's attitude.

Perhaps that works both ways, and training the child in wise use of money will help parents to a more successful handling of their own financial matters.

UNIFORM TRAFFIC LAWS

Two communities out of the whole United States have clung to the "rotary left turn" in traffic usage. They are Washington, D. C., and Cleveland. Now Washington has definitely turned its back on it. By order of the District of Columbia commissioners the "center left turn" will become effective on September 15.

It is likely that Cleveland, too, will swing into line by that time, if not before. A traffic commission is studying the situation. Its chairman gives the most important reason for replacing the rotary left with the center left turn.

"Cleveland shouldn't assume a position of aloofness," he says. "Here we are trying to sell Cleveland to the world, and I don't think we'll create a very good impression if our traffic rules differ from those in all other cities."

National uniformity in traffic regulations is a most desirable goal which has long been recognized by automobile clubs and traffic authorities. It seems hard to achieve at times, but it is bound to come. With a large part of the population touring all over the country at one time or another, safety demands that the rules for driving be the same everywhere.

There will be sympathy for President Hoover in his irritation over news stories that encroach on his privacy. Our practice of dogging a president from the time he awakes in the morning until he retires at night must prove annoying to the object of such unsolicited attention, and most persons will understand and appreciate his desire for a little personal freedom. He ought to be able to eat a banana without having the correspondents rush to the wire to tell where he threw the skin.

Thomas S. Rice, member of the State Crime Commission of New York, urges the importance of publishing crime news. "Every determined effort to reduce crime," he says, "has originated, has been sustained and has been carried on * * * by playing up of crime news systematically."

Which may prove an eye-opener for that type of critic who deplores "crime news in the papers."

If being in debt promotes public confidence in the integrity of a political party, the Democratic party ought to have a corner on the thing by this time.

Tramps at Our Back Door
They Were Glamorous Then
And They Thought They Were Free

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Tramps used to come to our house. They'd drop off a freight train down by the railroad bridge and set up camp on the bank of the river, in the "jungle."

And along about breakfast time they'd start up town and one of the first houses they stopped at would be ours. Perhaps there was a secret mark on our gate post! Some secret symbol of the wandering fraternity that said to the vagabonds: "Here you can get a meal." There must have been a sort of message, because several times a week a tramp came around the house and knocked at our back door and asked for food.

I can't remember that my mother ever refused any of them. Sometimes she had them chop a little wood, usually she didn't. Usually she asked them to wait until she fixed breakfast and after it was ready the tramp sat on the back steps—the same steps on which I hit my thumb with a hammer and where my grandmother first heard her innocent little grandson swear and ate away.

And the kids hung around and looked. The tramps didn't seem to mind. Most of them they were big, shabby fellows, who hadn't shaved for several weeks. They hardly ever said a thing. Sometimes they'd say, "Kid, could I have another cuppa coffee?" Or, "Well, kid, what are you going to be when you grow up?"—and when we said, "An engineer," they'd look pained and spit in the dirt. But that was all. They'd eat and get up and go away, back to the "jungle" or further along toward town, where they might pick up some small change somehow.

I see them differently now, not as savages when I was a small boy. Then they were glamorous figures, going where they pleased, free souls in a world of chores. Now I know they weren't free at all. They were chained vagabonds, ruined men, sorry for themselves, braggarts who were always boasting of what they might have been if they had a chance. Not all of them, of course. Not the younger ones, not the adventuresome lads with a flash of the devil in their eyes, eager to see the world so wide, eager to see the older ones, the middle-aged tramps, who came mostly to our back door.

Thinking of those tramps who thought themselves free men in a civilization of slaves. I know as surely as I know anything at all that they were NOT free. And, thinking of them, I know that no man is free who loudly proclaims his freedom. When a man does that he is afraid, he is manacled, but dares not admit it, and he begs for your admiration—just as those tramps of my boyhood begged for breakfast at our back door.

Poor fellows.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

SWIMMING HOLES.

"O yes, may I go out to swim. O mother, my darling daughter; just hang your clothes on a hickory limb."

And don't go near the water."

That about expressed the condition of things fifty years ago. It expressed the attitude of the fathers and mothers toward the aquatic desires of their children and it expressed the parental attitude toward all forms of athletics. If anything has made it possible for the Life Insurance actuaries to assure the people that the span of life had been lengthened during the last fifty years by at least ten years, it has been the change of front of the parents toward athletics. Some say that it is due to the more sanitary living conditions that the human race lives longer and while that is true as far as it goes it is just as true that boys and girls are growing up to manhood and womanhood with much stronger bodies than ever before, due to more intelligent play.

When I was a boy and we boys wished to go swimming we had to hunt a secluded spot, granted that we could escape the fearful parent, and plunge into the water in nature's garb—bathing trunks being practically unknown to us. It is different now.

During the Fourth of July holidays I had occasion to see how the modern youth is provided with every opportunity to swim in the waters of Lawrence County. It seems very brook, crook and stream has dam upon dam each with its swimming hole; that bathing suits are as plentiful as the flowers in May and that thousands of both the young and old are using these pools. Atlantic City and Coronado Beach have their tens of thousands of bathers but the streams of the Nation have their millions.

Premier MacDonald's Praise Stirs U. S. To Responsibilities

British Premier, In Successive Speeches, Presents Questions Which Are Productive Of Debate In This Country

Premier Ramsay MacDonald's praise of the United States as "the greatest nation," taken together with his remarks before the House of Commons commending Britain as a leader in the movement to reduce armaments has stirred wide debate in American both as to this country's responsibilities and MacDonald's war cost figures.

As to the premier's tribute to America, the ST. LOUIS GLOBE-DEMOCRAT remarks: "Mr. MacDonald said something else that pleases us and that likewise we feel to be true. He said that this greatest nation has been built up by patient labor, by courage and self-respect." * * * There entered into and constantly promoted this development, certain fundamental principles of political, social and economic being that were established in its beginning, and that have been maintained and applied with more or less success ever since. They have, furthermore, been removed and usually governed by certain lofty ideals that have not only set their own standards of living and accomplishment, but have exerted a potent influence upon the development of other nations of the world."

"Materially we have wonderful advantages," said the HARTFORD TIMES, "and when the Eagle spreads its wings, it has reason for pride. It has no more reason for gratitude. The ocean has been a deliverance to us from the strivings of complications and inveterate differences which afflict the nations of the Old World. Nature gave us a vast country to enjoy and own, with almost as much privilege in Mexico and Canada as on our own soil. Time has not yet run long enough to give the United States the trials due to older environment, or to increase of population beyond the easy ability of the land to support. And most of all, we should remember that what of human resource we have had in its fundamentals came from Europe." The Times concludes: "We doubt if any nation at this time has a greater premier, a more admirable leader than MacDonald."

"The claim that the United States is the greatest nation," according to the BUFFALO EVENING NEWS, can be supported, not by any arguments of racial, geographical, imperialistic or even accidental superiority, but because it embodies conceptions of government and organization which, under the tests of trial have produced the best results in the promotion of human welfare and the general progress of mankind." The CHARLESTON EVENING POST finds it "a striking thing" that at a celebration in London of the anniversary of the day on which the Declaration of Independence of the American colonies was adopted with its indictment of the British king and his government, the chief of the British government should give utterance to so sweeping a tribute to the nation which sprang into being from that Declaration. It would surprise George Washington, it continues, that paper, "it would amuse and delight Benjamin Franklin, but to the man from Butte, Keokuk it will seem to be just the right stuff."

Advising that "responsibility goes with power," and that "much will be demanded of him who has received much," the NEW YORK TIMES adds: "Even the stoutest and most assertive of American nationalists cannot resist the temptation to lift up their eyes and see written on the sky our new destiny to cooperate with the rest of the world. We cannot escape world problems if we would. To maintain ourselves in provincial aloofness is no longer possible. Those who refuse to breathe any air except that of their own nation are in danger of suffocating in their proud isolation." The great appeal today, as Prime Minister MacDonald said, is for nations of good-will to join in good works. There need be no question of entangling alliances. No formal treaty is necessary. Without anything except a tacit understanding, America can, as Mr. MacDonald said, keep step with Great Britain and the nations of the continent in the great causes of liberty and peace and spiritual enfranchisement."

"There was gratitude in the premier's message," as interpreted by the AKRON BEACON JOURNAL, "for a republic that is taking the lead in lifting the low fortunes of old world nations out of the pit. What a fine virtue he wove for the memory of the founding fathers, and their successors in present day administration. * * * While Americans are hearing these fine phrases, they should not fail to attend the counsel which they had from George Washington. If he were living today he would be amazed at the greatness of the republic which he instituted and which has made in getting itself involved in European politics, quarrels and interests."

Considering Premier MacDonald's condemnation of armaments, the PORTLAND OREGON JOURNAL asks: "If business and industry are to be injured by heavy taxes, a great part of which goes for armaments, why not, if it is necessary to suspend expenditures for armaments?" The PROVIDENCE BULLETIN links the MacDonald plea with President Hoover's speech before the International Chamber of Commerce, and sees "two leading statesmen of two of the great world powers talking the same language." THE NEW ORLEANS TIMES-PICAYUNE finds satisfaction in the fact that, "if the race for military superiority must go on, the nations which counsel it are notified in effect that they may expect to find the pace at once more rapid and more costly than they like"; that "the sacrifices of armament as the British spokesmen point out, 'cannot be on one side.'"

"Although anything can be done with statistics," states the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR, "To portray the United States as setting the world a reckless example in naval expenditures can easily be shown (Continued On Page Five)

You have probably dwelt on the same subjects so long that they are tiresome because you have evolved no new ideas about them.

Your rehearsal of objections to conditions you meet every day in your place of employment does not add to the home folks good opinion of you.

You have become so saturated with these thoughts that you are unfit for constructive thinking along other lines.

Always your thoughts revert to the old channels.

Your mind is becoming set in the opinion that you are not receiving a fair deal.

You are not as alert to do good work, your efforts are not consistent with the good of your organization.

ONE ARGUMENT FOR THE NEW BALL

Whenever I'd miss a four-foot putt or shank a mangle shot.

I blamed myself last summer, but this summer I do not.

For when my shoes desert the line and into bunkers fall.

I know the blunder isn't mine—the fault is in the ball.

Last year I shot some fearful rounds but all that I could say.

When drives of mine went out of bounds.

Was: "This is not my day." For scores that kept on mounting high.

I'd no excuse at all. But now I have an alibi.

I blame the larger ball.

The old ball may have had a flight the new ball seems to lack.

But 'tis my golfing prayer at night they'll never bring it back.

For as I dub my way along from springtime unto fall.

It's nice when things are going wrong.

To blame it on the ball.

I could not bring myself to blame the caddy for my sin.

Nor give excuses old and lame because I'd failed to win.

But this year when I badly play, as I my score recall.

It seems to soothe my soul to say, "The trouble's with the ball."

Deibler Explains Why Bellefonte Officials Moved Famous Trout

HARRISBURG, July 15.—Muddy water stirred up the rumor of the "Betrayal of the Bellefonte Trout," on which newspaper clippings from three states, including many editorials, are pouring into the offices of the Board of Fish Commissioners.

An example cited charged "that the Board of Fish Commissioners received a request to transfer these trout for the sole purpose of destroying this particular area, and in the transfer, sixty-seven of the great fellows were hooked by anglers and doubtless found their way to the frying pans."

Naturally articles of this nature bring hundreds of protests from individuals and fishermen from all sections of the Commonwealth, Commissioner O. M. Deibler said today.

Probably every trout fisherman in Pennsylvania as well as hundreds of thousands of tourists and sightseers at one time or another visited the famous area in the Borough of Bellefonte where hundreds of large trout are on display. The Fish Commission has taken as much pride in these fish as the Borough of Bellefonte and the last thing it would attempt would be to destroy them, Deibler asserted.

What really happened, according to Deibler, is that the officials of the Borough of Bellefonte thought that if a few of these large trout were placed in the stream coming from the Bellefonte spring that these fish would always be in clear water and could be seen at all times. During the spring and fall months when tourists and sightseers are passing through Bellefonte, the waters are cloudy and the fish can not be seen. Insofar as the Fish Commission is concerned, it issued no permit nor had any part in the matter with the exception that the superintendent of the Bellefonte Hatchery was asked to assist in transferring the fish. This he agreed to do as it was through an experienced man should be present when the transfer was made.

There was no doubt in the minds of the borough officials of Bellefonte that the placing of a few trout in this clear water would greatly improve the piscatorial scenery and attractiveness of this section of Bellefonte.

The Board feels that it has received a great deal of unjust criticism occasioned by these rumors, Deibler explained. After a complete investigation of the circumstances connected with the incident, the Board believes it to be very doubtful if any fisherman can notice the removal of any trout from Spring Creek. Apparently there are just as many trout in the stream as ever and the few which were placed in the stream coming from Bellefonte's large spring did not injure or frighten those in the restricted area. Those taken out were from the headwaters of the restricted area, and the several hundred feet of restricted area below this point was not molested in any way and what was done will not affect the attractiveness at all.

How such stories originate is impossible to say but during all the controversy, no effort was made to get in touch with the Fish Commission at Harrisburg and learn the true facts, Deibler said. It is suggested by the Board that those who feel a great injustice has been done to the fishermen should stop at Bellefonte and see the trout for themselves. If any additional information is sought, it can be secured from the superintendent of the Bellefonte Fish Hatchery.

to be a fallacious undertaking, although no one in this country will suggest that Mr. McDonald had any ulterior purpose in indulging in the Anglo-American comparison he has made." The Star points out: "It needs to be borne in mind that as a purely budgetary proposition even a parity fleet would cost the American people more than such a fleet costs Britain. Our personnel is the highest paid in the world. The standards of living in our naval service, ashore and afloat, are notably higher, and correspondingly costlier, than in other services. Labor and material costs, too, are probably heavier on the average in this country than elsewhere."

The SAN ANTONIO EXPRESS emphasizes the compromise plan before the preparatory commission by which the Old World nations would "limit their defense forces by budget and leave the United States free to fix its own land and air armaments." That paper remarks that "the navy's total tonnage already is fixed by the Washington and London treaties which give the United States and British fleets parity." The Express feels that the premier's remarks "plainly were directed to other Old World powers, some of whose arrays are practically at war strength."

So Tall, But Not Too, Is Ruling In Patrol

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 15.—Six feet five inches may be a fine height for a drum major but it is a trifle too tall, about five inches too tall, for Patrol, in the opinion of Captain W. C. Price, Superintendent of the Patrol.

Captain Price had to arrive at this decision when a man admitted to that height sought to be enlisted as a rookie at the Patrol Training School here. It was found that motorcycle handlebars can't accommodate knees attached to such a tall man. Hence the rejection. The Patrol insists that candidates for enlistment must be at least five feet eight inches tall but has no room for those exceeding six feet.

Farmers Advised Of Improved Methods

Improvements and timely reminders are contained in the weekly bulletin issued by the school of agriculture, Pennsylvania State College, as follows:

Plant Winter Vegetables—Rutabagas, turnips, beets, carrots, and winter radishes should be planted liberally for winter storage. Lone Island Improved or Yellow Globe, Purple Top White Globe, Detroit Dark Red, Red Cored Chantenay, and Chinese White, respectively, are good varieties of these vegetables to grow.

Prevent Apple Diseases—Apples should be sprayed now with summer strength lime-sulphur to prevent scab and sooty blotch, say Penn State fruit disease specialists.

Gather Eggs Often—Eggs should be collected at least twice daily, during the season of broody hens and hot weather. Egg production may be stimulated during the summer by feeding a wet mash daily.

Improve Dairy Herds—Continuous

testing for production in dairy herds provides the only means of intelligently weeding out poor cows and improving the milking ability of the herd. This is especially important when prices are low.

Prevent Locust Sprouts—Black locust thrives well in the middle Atlantic states. Locust trees bordering cultivated fields often become a nuisance because of sprouting. This can be prevented to some extent by girdling the trees in July and August.

Control Peach Diseases—Spray peaches with 16-16-100 self-boiled lime-sulphur for best control of brown rot and scab. Applications should be made four weeks before the fruit starts to ripen to avoid spotting.

Kill Tomato Pests—Potato aphids on tomatoes can be controlled by dusting or spraying with nicotine. Undersides of leaves should be thoroughly covered with the treatment. Your county agent can give details.

Greater Pennsylvania Council To Function

(From News Bureau) (State Capital)

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 15.—Governor Pinchot when he returns to the Capitol next week probably will give serious attention to the naming of the Greater Pennsylvania Council which was authorized by the 1931 legislature. Under the bill as approved by the governor the council will consist of 150 members. Direction of the commission is to be in charge of an executive committee of fifteen.

Already the governor has named Dr. Charles Reitel, of Pittsburgh, to be director at a salary of $10,000 a year. He is the only employee of the council at present. An appropriation of $25,000 is available for the biennium.

After the council is named and it begins to function a staff of employees will be necessary. Housing the council will be a problem for there is no office space available in any of the state-owned buildings and even the rented quarters are crowded.

The task of selecting the 150 persons to be members of the council will not be an easy one. It is safe to assume that the number of applicants is far in excess of the authorized number. Every governor finds it harder to fill the places that are more or less honorary than those paying salaries.

In addition to naming the Greater Pennsylvania Council the governor also has a number of other appointments to boards and commissions to make. These are other honorary positions on boards of trustees for homes, hospitals and institutions. He probably will wait until his secretary, P. S. Stahlneck, returns from Europe in August before filling these vacancies.

BERRY-PICKER HAS NARROW ESCAPE

OIL CITY, Pa., July 15.—As Mrs. James Phillips, one of a number of Oil City residents out berry-picking, reached for berries along Pit-hole creek, a rattlesnake, three feet in length, struck at her but missed.

Screams brought her husband and the reptile, carrying nine rattles and a button, was killed. The snake's attack ended the berry-picking party.

PERFECTED FREE WHEELING IN De SOTO

A perfected form of Free Wheeling, designed and manufactured by Chrysler Motors, is now optional equipment on all De Soto cars. The adoption of this improved engineering feature gives an even better performance, even greater economy and even greater driving ease to cars that have long been famous for these qualities.

In De Soto Free Wheeling you can shift between any and all of the forward speeds without using the clutch. When pressure on the accelerator is released, the car glides along free of all mechanical restraint, which means economy in fuel and oil and the reduction of engine wear.

There is nothing new to learn about driving with Free Wheeling. All operations are exactly the same as those you have become accustomed to. When you wish to drive in conventional gear, you merely pull a button on the dash and lock Free Wheeling out.

In addition to Free Wheeling, the entire De Soto line recently has been equipped with an Easy-Shift Transmission, which makes it possible to shift easily and noiselessly between second and high gears in either direction at car speeds up to 45 miles an hour even with Free Wheeling locked out.

The addition of Free Wheeling and the Easy-Shift Transmission to such distinctive De Soto features as smooth, flexible, powerful engines; all-steel bodies; low center of gravity; weatherproof internal hydraulic brakes; smart, sweeping lines and handsome upholstery and fittings marks a great achievement in value-giving.

Let us demonstrate a De Soto with Free Wheeling and Easy-Shift Transmission today. Even De Soto owners will be surprised to see how much these features add to motor-ing satisfaction.

Guardsmen Take Up Rifle Drill

Training Camp Of National Guards Resembles Western Front In World War

COMBAT PROBLEMS ARE ENGAGED IN

(International News Service)
CAMP KEMP, Mt. Gretna, Pa., July 15.—With the training camp of the Pennsylvania National Guard resembling more and more a sector of the western front of the World War days, guardsmen today engaged in combat problems in the rough, wooded country adjoining the target range in preparation for next week's war games.

Rifle companies of the 55th infantry brigade, commanded by Brig. Gen. Edward Martin, marched to the combat rifle ranges directly after morning mess and prepared for an assault upon "enemy position".

Exact strength and disposition of the enemy was uncertain, and the attacks reverted to Indian-fighter tactics. Rifles loaded with ball ammunition, they crept through the woods, skirmishers in advance and scouts on the flanks, seeking to establish the position of the defending force.

Strictest silence was imposed on the ranks, and regular army officers acting as instructors made sure the order was obeyed as the force moved. A touch of realism was given the mimic combat by the manipulation of targets by men hidden in pits and the use of blank ammunition.

As the firing grew warmer and more frequent, with targets disappearing and reappearing, the problem of the officers came to the fore, it being their job to decide whether they had gained a fire superiority or the enemy had merely retired.

Young Man Injured

In other sections of the training area, other troops made ready for the coming war games. Engineers worked on a rather elaborate system of field fortifications and headquarters and supply units prepared to establish and maintain lines of communication and supply.

At the same time, tank corps troops and machine gunners and Howitzer companies laid plans for demolition of the fortifications and disruption of communication and supply lines, to be attempted when the game gets under way.

First casualty at the camp was recorded when Private Don Uilom, 20, of Waynesburg, a member of Company K, 110th infantry, tripped and fell during drill, a splinter from his glasses piercing his left eye. Doctors said he will lose the sight of the eye. He was taken to Good Samaritan hospital at Lebanon.

Many Dogs Killed In Mercer County

Agent Harry Higbee Has Been Extremely Busy During Season

MERCER, Pa., July 15.—What has been accomplished in this county by Harry Higbee, agent of the Bureau of Animal Husbandry of Pennsylvania, is best told by a review of the treasurer's record of June.

Six fines were sent in during this month by dog owners caught by the agent and his officers. The number is remarkably small and shows that dog owners have been educated to licensing their animals without making themselves subject to tax.

Over 200 stray dogs have been shot this summer by Higbee. He relates instances where dog owners unable to license or feed them, have turned their animals over to police for shooting rather than see them suffer.

Of the 100 head of sheep that have been killed in the county almost without exception the killing has been done by stray dogs.

REPLENISH GAME

Rehabilitating the game preserves of the Jackson Stream and Field club is reported. Raccoons have been released recently as well as a large flock of ringnecks.

Coon hunting is a major sport in this locality where in its day it was the best in the county. If coon hunting is to last at all there must be more animals released, say old timers.

WARDEN CHECKS UP

Aliens owning guns are finding it expensive if caught by Game Warden O. A. Perschka. The ownership is contrary to law and the warden is busy making a check.

Dogs running game in some sections of the county has resulted in losses. The practice is being stopped by the warden as fast as the animals can be found at it.

BRIDGES NEED PAINTING

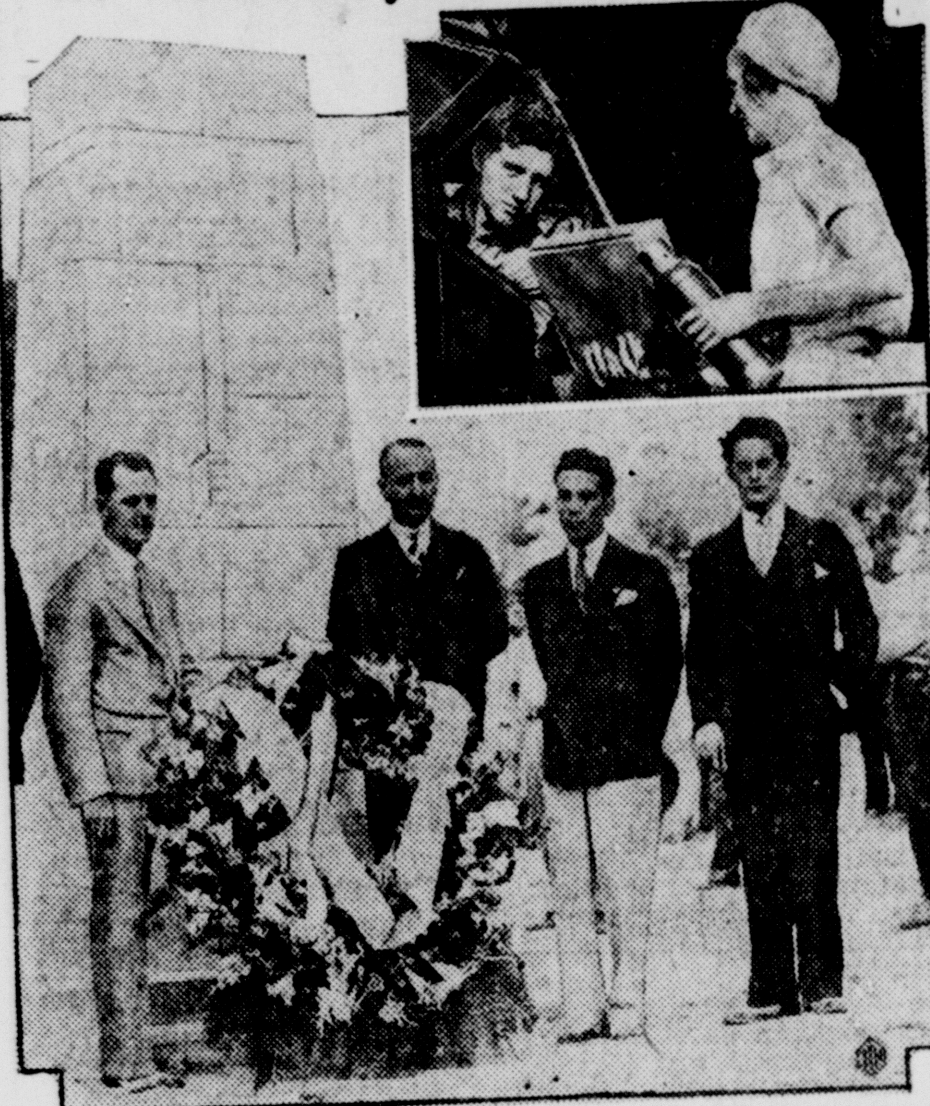

A partial inspection of the 500 county bridges made by County Engineer F. P. Graham shows some of them in need of painting but very little repair work.

County bridges are in the best condition now they have ever been. In the last ten years bridge building in this county has been a major pursuit of the commissioners. As a result good bridges have been obtained of permanent type.

In Memory of Carranza

Two events memorializing the tragic death of Major Emilio Carranza, noted Mexican flier, three years ago, were staged in and near New York when a monument to the memory of the flier was dedicated at Chatsworth, N. J., and two American pilots hopped off from Roosevelt Field, L. I., on a proposed non-stop flight to Mexico City and return. Photo shows the stone shaft erected to Major Carranza with officiating Mexican dignitaries and the wreath they have just placed on the monument. Insert depicts Mrs. Dorothy Maloney, secret wife for almost four months of Edward Maloney, giving her husband coffee and sandwiches for his flight over the route to Mexico City which Carranza was flying when he crashed. Seth Yerrington is Maloney's flying mate.

Plans Mature For Arms Limitation Meeting In City

Morris Storer Will Be Principal Speaker At Meeting Here July 22

In order that New Castle may not be lagging in the general movement for the education of the people of this country in regard to the general world disarmament conference to be held at Geneva, Switzerland, by the nations of the world in February, 1932, the Woman's club, through its international relations department, has completed arrangements to have the Pennsylvania disarmament caravan at the Cathedral on July 22 at 8 p. m. The meeting will be open to the public and all will be afforded an opportunity of hearing more about this important world issue at that time.

Morris Storer, who will be the main speaker on the occasion of the visit of the caravan, has just returned from the School for Peace Workers held at Haverford college during the past month. The school was conducted under the auspices of the American Friends Service committee, which is sending out ten caravans into the rural districts to tell the people about the disarmament conference. These young men and women received their instructions on the issues involved at the School of Peace.

Thirty national organizations are working intensively this summer to help make the conference next February a success. Four petitions are in circulation. The American section of the Women's International League was first in the field securing signatures. Its transcontinental caravan left Hollywood June 21 on a trip across the continent, passing through 21 states. It will arrive in Washington on October 17.

Candidate For County Coroner

J. P. Caldwell Announces And Calls Attention To His Record In Office

J. P. CALDWELL

While coroner of Lawrence county I have endeavored to conduct the office at the least possible expense to the county. This has been accomplished by exercising discretion in the matter of inquests.

When the coroner is called in connection with a sudden or violent death, it is his duty to make an investigation. He must then determine whether or not an inquest is necessary.

If circumstances are such as to arouse suspicion of foul play, or if there are indications that death may have resulted from criminal carelessness, it is the duty of the coroner to hold an inquest.

If there are no such indications, the coroner can make a return as to the cause of death. In such cases the coroner's fee amounts to about one-fourth of the total cost to the county where inquests are held.

Thus it will be seen that the coroner can save taxpayers considerable money by making returns instead of holding inquests. I have consistently followed this practice, as my records will show. I have never held an inquest to get additional fees.

Many Dog Owners Are Prosecuted

More Dogs Are Licensed In Lawrence County Than Last Year

According to the latest report from the bureau of animal industry, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, 3,156 dog owners in every county except Cameron and Pike, have been prosecuted for disregarding the provisions of the state dog law.

The number of animals licensed is approximately the same as it was a year ago, although an increase of 70 has been shown in Lawrence county. The number of dogs licensed so far in 1931 in Lawrence county totals 5,893. Mercer county has 7,895; Butler county, 6,697; Venango county, 5,887; and Beaver county, 7,448.

Puzzlers

Put a silver quarter in the bottom of a conical glass, then a silver dollar, as shown in the illustration. The greatest diameter of the glass should be a little greater than that of the dollar. Now, without touching either glass or coin, can you make the quarter jump from its position?

Breath strongly on the dollar, causing it to rotate and assume a vertical position. The compressed breath at the bottom of the glass will cause the coin to hop from the glass to the table.

With a swell of national pride we note from the photographs that Mr. Mellon landed in Paris with cane, gloves and neatly pressed trousers to be greeted by a French minister whose apparel suggested that he had been up all night.—The St. Louis Times.

10,000 Shriners Parade As Thousands Applaud

Ten thousand marching Shriners, wearing their gaily colored uniforms, added to the gaiety of the national convalescence, in Cleveland. On horseback, and afoot, following famous bands, the Shriners moved down Euclid avenue as thousands of Clevelanders and wives of visiting Nobles cheered. Top, the mounted patrol of Tadmor Temple, Akron, O., one of the youngest temples in the United States, snapped during the parade; below, the procession wending its way through the public square, bedecked with giant camels, palm trees and Asiatic bunting.

Tuesday's Schedule Keeps Scouts Busy; Play Mushball Till

No-Hit, No-Run Game Between Dan Boones, Kit Carsons, Exciting

By SCRIBE JOHN STUMP
CAMP JOHN M. PHILLIPS, July 15.—A new campfire idea was tried out this evening. Each stockade held their own. In this manner four programs were held at one time. The entertainment consisted of songs, stunts, solos and many other features put on by the scouts.

A group of scouts moved into the Indian village today. The chief of the village this year is Thomas Rambo. The village has been fixed up and is in good shape for this and the coming camping periods.

The mushball game between the Daniel Boones and the Kit Carsons turned out to be no-hit, no-run game, with the Boones on the winning side. Hall pitched this unusual game. Swick pitched for the losing side. At the end of the game the Boones had piled up a score of fifteen runs against the Carsons.

Teams from the Dave Thomson stockade won both the volley and basketball games which were played just after colors.

Hut Circle Lumber of stockade Dave Thompson won the daily inspection with 93 percent. Members of the hut are John Stump, leader, Hans Holm, Martin Schaffer, Bill Stein, and Jim Stein. The highest stockade in points was the Dave Thomson.

Five boys passed from the non-swimmer to the beginner's rank today. Two giant water balls recently purchased were made good use of today. A hot game of water polo was played between staff and campers. The campers put up a hard fight but continually lost the ball to the staff.

A group of cubs and scouts spent a few nights camping on the scout grounds. They did their own cooking and pitched their own tents. The boys were Bob and Ben Johnson, Francis Pitzer, Don Wimer, Dick McClure, Bob Hamilton and Dick Robb. The Good Turn detail was started today. A group of boys are sent to do their good turn at the various cottages near the camp. All sorts of odd jobs and light work is done by them. Today while a group they discovered four baby rabbits in the tall grass. These were released in a more suitable spot. Archery is going over big in the camp and the new equipment is in constant demand. Some of these enthusiasts are becoming quite expert at it. A special color guard of larger boys was necessary this evening to lower the huge flag donated by E. B. Hawkins.

A group of boys under the leadership of John Stump spent some time before taps studying star groups and constellations.

Kentucky Colonel Tells Of His Life

Episodes In His Life In The "Blue Grass" State Interests A Large Crowd

After fervent prayers, ringing testimonies, preliminaries and a rousing song service led by Rev. H. C. Maitland of Winfield, Kansas, during which part of the program he sang a solo, "Pearly White City," Dr. Johnson, addressed the audience in the tent at the Greenwood Methodist camp meeting being held tonight on the Ellwood road.

Dr. Johnson introduced and illustrated his sermon on the old-time Bible type of conversion by relating his personal experience as a former citizen and school teacher in the wild and rugged regions of the famous feudal districts in the Kentucky mountains. He said he was acquainted with the famous "Devil Judge Toliver" of the Trail of the Lonesome Pine, who is reputed to have killed 32 men. He gave thrilling descriptions of the old-time moonshiners and exciting gun battles between the noted feudists of that part of the state.

He taught the children of the fighting feudists and preached the gospel and saw many lives transformed by the supernatural power of the Christian religion, which he strongly recommends as the only remedy for sin. Dr. Johnson has had quite a career in the evangelistic fields and along political lines. He made the race for Congress and was nominated for governor of Kentucky and now has the commission of colonel on Governor Flem D. Sampson's staff.

This evening Dr. Johnson promises to speak on what he terms the most sensational subject of his series of sermons, an illustrated sermon on "The Nigger in the Wood Pile."

Rev. S. R. Maitland, pastor of Greenwood church, is arranging for more seats in the tent in order to accommodate the crowds, which are beyond the expectation of Rev. Maitland when he erected the tent.

"Harry" Maitland, as he is known to the New Castle folks, is perfecting a chorus choir and a junior choir to furnish music from time to time.

Rev. S. L. Cobb of the Harmony Baptist church was present at the services Tuesday night and offered prayer.

GENE CONNORS GETS BROKEN COLLARBONE
Officer Moore and Walls answered a call Tuesday afternoon to the district between Grove street and the plant of the New Castle Milling Company and found Gene Connors and Frank O'Rourke engaged in a battle. This was reduced. O'Rourke was fined $5 this morning by the mayor and he did not have the money to pay, he is spending five days in jail.

Smith was "heavy man" for Danny Stanton, also indicted for the Zuta murder, police said.

Police gave revenge as the cause of the death of the gangster and said that a member of the Zuta gang had put Smith "on the spot."

Commission Report Speaks Of Mooney

California Courts Severely Scored For Methods In Case Of Tom Mooney

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, July 15.—The manner in which the California courts have dealt with the celebrated case of Tom Mooney, imprisoned labor leader, is "shocking to one's sense of justice," in the judgment of the Wickersham Law Enforcement Commission, expressed today in a report on "criminal procedure." Mooney, with Warren Billings, is now serving a life sentence for their conviction of having participated in the bombing of a Preparedness Day parade in San Francisco 1916. Many jurists and legal authorities are convinced that there was a miscarriage of justice in the case and have for years endeavored unsuccessfully to obtain a new trial for Mooney particularly. The California courts have invariably rejected all such efforts.

The reference to the Mooney case in the report of the Wickersham Commission today was comparatively brief, but it was pointed.

East Liverpool City Hall Is Condemned

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., July 15.—The 54-year-old City Hall and jail here, which occupies a site originally deeded for market house purposes, was condemned as a "fire trap" today by S. C. Griffith of Columbus, investigator for the division of building inspection, State Department of Industrial Relations.

Griffith's report, submitted to Mayor Ralph C. Benedum, said "the building is a wreck and in danger of collapsing" and "persons sleeping on the third floor of the structure would be trapped in the event of fire."

As a result of Griffith's report, Field Deputy Edward Dickson of Steubenville, representing the State Department of Inspection of Factories and Workshops, was ordered to make an inspection of the building and submit his report to state officials at Columbus.

Three times in five years voters have defeated proposed bond issues for a new municipal building.

Use Of Trucks On Farms Grows

Number In Lawrence County
Has Almost Doubled
In Last Seven Years

Approximately one out of every four farms in the state is equipped with a motor truck, according to a recent estimate made by the bureau of statistics, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

The use of trucks on farms in Lawrence County has almost doubled in the last seven years, the survey shows.

In 1924, there were 273 trucks on Lawrence county farms, while a survey made this year reveals the fact that there are now 450.

The use of motor trucks on farms throughout the state has increased approximately 80 per cent, in spite of a decrease of 15 per cent in the number of farms. Throughout the entire state, the number has increased from 27,034 to 40,260 in seven years.

Plan Biggest Dry Drive In History

Enforcement Chiefs Start Out
Today As 335 New Agents
End Training

WASHINGTON, July 15.—Federal prohibition enforcement chiefs were prepared for the biggest campaign in dry law history with today set as the zero hour.

This was the word given out at the prohibition bureau, after the receipt of information that the 335 new dry agents had or would complete within 24 hours their intensive enforcement training. By tonight most of them will have reached the posts assigned to them.

Howard T. Jones, acting prohibition administrator, said he did not anticipate, however, any immediate upward leap in arrests and seizures.

He explained, the new agents will work for some time with men who have been in the service for a year or more. Later they will be put more on their own and the force of the new drive is expected to be more apparent.

The corps of agents he referred to was part of the new force of 500 authorized by Congress. Allocations include 27 agents into the Sixth (Tennessee, Kentucky, Ohio and Michigan) district.

Charges that political intrigue has brought a breakdown of prohibition enforcement throughout New York State have been filed here with Amos W. W. Woodcock, federal prohibition director by Charles W. Kress, former chief prohibition agent in up-state New York.

Kress resigned July 4, with the explanation that enforcement conditions in New York are so corrupt that he could not conscientiously remain longer in the service.

RELATIVE HUMIDITY DEFINED
By Arthur DeV. Carpenter.
AS we all must experience the immediate effects of the humidity in the air we breathe, it is well to grasp the simplified meaning of the expression "relative humidity" so often seen in daily weather bureau reports. Relative humidity is the percentage of moisture, as compared with the total—100 per cent—of moisture that same atmosphere is capable of carrying at that same temperature of the moment. For it must be remembered that the total amount of humidity (water vapor) the air will carry, is wholly a matter of its temperature. Increase the air's temperature 18 degrees and its water vapor capacity is doubled.

State Police Funds Lower

No Provision Made For Expansion In Appropriations For Two Years

FORCE TO BE SHORT OF FULL STRENGTH

(From News Bureau)
HARRISBURG, Pa., July 15.—Failure to appropriate sufficient money will prevent the State Police force from being maintained at its authorized strength throughout the present biennium. Present indications are that the force will be about twenty men short of full strength.

The appropriation allowed for the 1931-33 biennium is $2,491,500. That sum is to pay the salaries of the enlisted men and officers together with the expense of maintaining the telephone-telegram system of inter-city communication for the prevention of crime.

Two years ago former Governor John S. Fisher authorized a considerable increase to the State Police appropriation. That increase was sufficient to permit the force to be recruited to full strength and also install the inter-city system.

The budget officers in preparing the estimates for the 1931-33 biennium allowed an increase of $140,000 in the appropriation for the force.

Two years ago when the telephone system was first installed at least six months of the biennium had passed before the machinery was put into use. The same situation prevailed in the training of recruits for the force.

The increase given to the State Police for the present biennium is just sufficient to operate the telephone system for the two year period. It does not allow a sufficient balance to permit keeping the force at authorized strength.

It will not be necessary to discharge any troopers for lack of funds. As their terms of enlistment expire they will not be replaced immediately.

There is a class of recruits at the Hershey training school at present. These men will finish about October 1. Because of insufficient funds no additional recruits will be put in training before early next spring. Five months are required to complete the course and after the class in school completes its work nearly a year will elapse before the next group is graduated.

The governor has transferred to the State Police payroll two employees who formerly were attached to his office. They looked after the registration of industrial police whose commissions were revoked as of July 1. This addition to the payroll was not estimated when the budget was prepared and will further reduce the money available for police purposes.

Enforcement of the Witkin firearms act which becomes effective September 1 probably will be vested in the State Police. The Secretary of the Commonwealth is endeavoring to have his office relieved of the duty of keeping the necessary records and this work is expected to be assigned to the State Police.

WINSTED, Conn., July 15.—Mr. and Mrs. Harold Spencer, of Springfield, Mass., have a contented tabby cat at their summer home at Lake Wonsunkunk, this summer. Three kittens came to Tabby as she was traveling down to the cottage from the Spencer town house in Springfield.

LOOKING BACK IN NEW CASTLE

Venice has stood for ages on piles driven into the bed of the Adriatic sea and about which the waters of that sea have beaten incessantly for a long time. In many instances for several centuries. Likewise the Scottish Rite Cathedral on Lincoln avenue, stands on piling, which are deeply imbedded and solidified in the sands and earth and will not be subject to the effect of weakening by water as is the piling in Venice.

It is not so long ago since the Cathedral was but the dream of those who hoped to sometime see a magnificent structure reared here that would not only furnish a fine home for the masonic fraternities of the city, but in the strict sense of the word, a civic center.

When a few years back, the site of the Cathedral was selected, it was assumed that the ground selected was a site would of the general firm type that exists in this district.

When the excavation work was advancing rapidly, it was found that the strata of earth in the site was of a general sandy character, which interfered to some extent with the foundation work of the Cathedral. It was finally determined that the best solution of the matter was to use piling, which was driven down through the questionable deposit of sand into the more solid strata of earth beneath it.

A considerable sum of money was spent in making the foundation for the immense building as solid as possible and there is no doubt but with this added support that the foundation of the immense building is stronger than most foundations of a similar character.

Children's Care Will Be Subject Of Group Study

HARRISBURG, July 15.—A child's eye view of how it feels to be one of the more than 30,000 children of the State in care of foster homes will be presented by various well-known authorities on the subject at the eighth annual summer institute for Institution Workers to be held at Hollidaysburg, July 15, 16 and 17 under the direction of the bureau of children, State Department of Welfare.

Among the prominent speakers who will address various meetings of the three day session are: Dr. Jas. S. Plant, director of the Essex county Juvenile Clinic, Newark, N. J.; Miss Lou Eva Longan, superintendent St. Christopher's School, Dobbs Ferry, N. Y.; and Miss Erna D. Bunke, field secretary, National Recreation Association.

Staff members of institutions for the foster care of children will make up the members of the conference and reservations have been filled rapidly by representatives of these institutions in all parts of the state.

EDENBURG

BOY LOST

Some excitement was caused on Monday morning when Alex, the two year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Nello of Crawford Avenue, disappeared. A search of the neighborhood was made but the boy could not be found. However, Alex Deprano, proprietor of the pool room on West Jackson street brought the boy home. Mr. Deprano said he had received a telephone call that a child was at the poolroom and evidently was lost as he was crying. Mr. Deprano hastened to the poolroom to find the Nello boy who evidently had gone in search of his daddy who had gone to work before the boy was out of bed.

Wanderings Of Needle Cause Woe

Story Of Man's Ills Not Impossible, Doctor States

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
I do not know whether this story is true or not, but it was told me by a veracious man and there is confirmation for it in reliable medical reports.

There was a man who had a pain in his back. He went to all kinds of doctors and took all kinds of treatments. But the pain in his back kept on. He went to famous diagnosticians and diagnostic clinics, and orthopedic surgeons. Most of the diagnosticians said frankly they did not know what the trouble was. X-rays showed nothing.

Still the pain in his back kept on. It went on for months and years. It kept going further and further down. It started about the level of the shoulder blades and gradually worked down to the small of the back.

Then it turned into sciatica. The man was so miserable that he could hardly attend to any of his work. He looked sick. But nobody could give him any relief or even tell him what was the matter. He tried osteopaths and chiropractors and Christian Science, but in this story they did no better than the regular medical profession.

Finally, his sciatica got better, his back was all right but he began to get sore in a spot in front of his leg just below the groin. At last, a little red lump appeared there and a surgeon opened it and removed the needle part of the head of a hypodermic needle.

The man remembered that he had been given a serum under the shoulder blade several years before and that the hypodermic needle of the syringe had broken off. If the story is true, the only explanation is that the needle worked its way along a rib, then down the spine, to the psoas muscle, then down that muscle into the front of the thigh.

That such a story is not impossible is shown by the reliable medical literature mentioned above and which is here before me. A negro was shot in the back, low down. Four days later the bullet was removed from down between his legs, having evidently worked its way along cleavage lines in tissue spaces. In another case a bullet entered the back almost as high up as the needle in my case, and was removed at almost the same place.

The only difference in the stories is the length of time required for my wandering Ulysses of a needle.

Drove Auto Without Permit, Asks Pardon

HARRISBURG, July 15.—A conscience stricken Shippensburg woman who once drove an automobile without having the necessary permit has asked the Department of Revenue to forgive her. She wrote as follows: "I felt I should write and tell you that I drove a car without a license. I know it is wrong so I felt I ought to take my place and confess it. Will you forgive me for the wrong deed? I expect to get a license as soon as I can."

With the desired forgiveness from the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, is a warning that it will take more than a confession to atone for a second similar offense against the vehicle code.

Hospital Business Is Big Industry

NEW YORK, July 15.—The rapid increase within recent years in the number and value of hospitals has tended to make the leading industries of the country. Sixty-three percent of all hospital beds are controlled by federal, state and local governments and 28 percent are owned by nonprofit associations while nine percent are private business enterprises. The average investment per hospital is about $425,000.

Another Record Registration At Rentz "Y" Camp

Second Week At Slippery Rock Location Shows Roster With 76 Names

By BOB WILKINS
Camp Scribe

The second week at the Fred L. Rentz Y. M. C. A. Camp shows a roster of 76 names, the largest registration ever announced in the annals of local camp history. Many of the campers had previously signed for one week stayed for the second and are planning to remain for the full season.

Camp director Bill Thomas delivered a short and interesting talk on "One Boy's Influence" at the Monday morning devotional exercises. During this time, also new baseball teams were chosen for the coming week and new captains were chosen. A list of the teams and captains follows:

Zebras—Bud Purdue
Wolverines—Jimmy Fox
Wildcats—George Stutzinger
Panthers—Ernest Stutzinger
Mink—George Swisher
Tigers—Stanley Witherspoon.

Winners of the last week's league are the Cardinals, winning in both baseball and basketball with a 1,000 percentage and the Black Hawks in volleyball with an equal rating.

The new teams fought their first battles under a warming sun with several unlooked for set backs. The Zebras captured victories from the Minks in close games. In baseball with a score of 6-5 and in volleyball 2-1. The Wildcats won from the Panthers, 3-0 in both baseball and volleyball. In two tight games of basketball and basketball the Wolverines bowed to the Tigers 7-6 and 9-8.

The evenings are spent quietly in games and the passing of athletic tests for camp merits. Tests are in charge of physical director Henry MacNichols. Several non-swimmers have been taught the art of swimming and are progressing noticeably. Complaints have been received from visitors and friends concerning the gorgeous ferns that adorn the tables and porches. "Katydids Lodge" giving to it an atmosphere resembling that about Palm Beach. Lanterns presented by Mrs. Fred L. Rentz are also being hung and along with the rustic furniture which circles the old stone fireplace a beautiful effect was created a scene that would equal the most picturesque spot on the Slippery Rock. The latest camp enrollment is given:

Tent One

Arrest 211 For Game Violations

HARRISBURG, July 15.—Field officers of the Game Commission during June brought 211 prosecutions, four less than during the corresponding period last year. The majority of the arrests were for dogs chasing game unlawfully. There were some prosecutions for hunting without license and for killing song-birds.

During June farmers killed 100 deer as a protection to property. Of this number ninety-six were used by the farmers for food and four were sent to charitable institutions. Last June, farmers killed 115 deer.

Bear damage has not been as heavy as in June of previous years. During June only seven bear damage claims were received covering the loss of six hives of bees, eight sheep and a two year old bull. The six bee hives were destroyed in Luzerne county, one sheep killed in Bedford county, one in Mifflin county and six in Sullivan county and the bull was killed in Potter county.

A count of the inhabitants of an ant mound revealed a population of 8,239.

Why Serve Big Dinner On Sunday

Holiday Meal Good For Family Ties—Dr. Myers

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.
Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

In the good old families of the farm, Sunday dinner is an institution. How we children who have grown up on the farm looked forward to those Sunday dinners! How we who have strayed from the farm look back to them!

The Sunday dinner has its merits. It brings the children with the parents. Several families get together, whole families—mother, father and children. They come together and go home together. This being together as a family is of great value. It makes the children conscious of the family bonds and family obligations; and when several families meet together this awareness of the family ties becomes more pronounced.

Sunday dinners usually bring into the home others than the family relatives, providing for the children new playmates, and new means of social interest and expression, putting these children on their best behavior, building up in them standards of character and manners. Even if the guests are all adults, children often profit from their visit. These guests may stimulate the children to express themselves and afford a new line of conversation for them to listen to.

If children come, don't expect all of them to sit around and visit like old people. Provide activities and games. Don't supervise too much.

A very bad feature of the Sunday dinner is the large burden it inflicts upon the mother. The men eat too much, and they sit around and yawn, too full to think and converse with much intelligence and enthusiasm. The poor mother must wear herself out; Sunday is for her the hardest day of all the week.

There should be some changes in this Sunday dinner program. Let this meal be very, very much simpler. Let it be looked upon as an excuse to get together to enjoy one another's company, rather than a means of stuffing stomachs.

The women have prepared and served the dinner; let the men and older children wash the dishes. Mother then will find some time to visit and relax. Dad also will have a little more appreciation of the actual personal cost of entertainment.

Go on with the Sunday dinner. Nothing like it for the social opportunities it gives you and your children. Be sure the children are allowed to speak freely and to enjoy activities. Simplify the meals. See that mother is not overburdened. Make it a family affair with every one contributing.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Two pamphlets by Dr. Myers may be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Garry C. Myers, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Punishments and Rewards" and "Fear".

Liquor Is Cause For Majority Of Auto Revocations

HARRISBURG, July 15.—Driving while intoxicated or transporting liquor was the cause for most of the 1448 revocations and 1499 suspensions meted out to automobile operators by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles during the first six months of 1931.

Total revocations involving liquor number 831. Of that number 863 were revoked on charges of driving while intoxicated. Intoxication and failure to stop cost twenty-three drivers their cards. Ten were revoked for intoxication and transporting liquor, eight for intoxication and operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent, and seven for permitting an intoxicated person to operate.

Two lost their cards for driving while under the influence of liquor and narcotics. Five were revoked for larceny and intoxication. Two each for larceny and transporting liquor; intoxication and operating during revocation period; intoxication and failure to disclose identity. Intoxication; failure to stop and assault and battery; failure to stop and transporting liquor; intoxication and operating during suspension period, and larceny, intoxication and operating during revocation period, in each case cost one operator his card.

Of the total suspensions, 486 cases involved liquor. Of that number 237 were for transporting liquor and 169 for intoxication. Forty-seven suspensions were for intoxication and failure to appear for a hearing, twenty-five for transporting liquor and failure to appear for a hearing. Transporting liquor and operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent drew suspensions for two as did intoxication, no operator's license and failure to appear for a hearing. Among other charges involving liquor were operating a car without the owner's consent and while intoxicated intoxication and failure to stop, misuse of registration, intoxication and reckless driving and intoxication, reckless driving and failure to appear for a hearing.

HIGHLIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

Kit Carson—3. Kit In New Mexico

Kit Carson did not return home with the wagon train that had brought him to Santa Fe from Missouri. Struck with the atmosphere and colorful charm of the Southwest, he lingered in the old Spanish town.

Wishing to see more of the country, he provided himself with a trapper's outfit and, after hunting alone for several weeks along the upper reaches of the Rio Grande, visited the town of Fernando de Taos.

In Taos Kit met an old trapper named Kincaid. The two became good friends and together spent the winter of 1826-1827 trapping in the mountains.

In the evenings Kincaid taught the boy to speak Spanish. Kit was an apt pupil and quickly picked up the language. This accomplishment was to prove valuable.

Don's Speedboat Mark Wipes Out Auto Failure

KAYE DON

By Central Press.
GARDONE, Italy, July 15.—He who laughs last—Is Kaye Don, British speed enthusiast.

And more power to him.
Don, whose sport career is largely fast starts, a flash of lightning in the stretch and a red-hot finish—got off to a very bad start in the way of becoming a world sport celebrity. But he's finishing in what the poets term a "blaze of glory."

The trouble with Don—who now holds the world record in motorboat speed—was that he thought motor cars were his medium. They may be, but he is much better in a speedboat.

Don came to the United States a couple of years ago to break the world's auto speed record, then held by the late Sir Harry Segrave. To Daytona Beach he brought a wonderful car of terrific power and great promise.

But nothing happened. on buzzed over the Daytona sands, but failed to get near Segrave's mark. He departed for England in disgust, while unkind critics put him down as a bust.

To make matters worse, Sir Malcolm Campbell—then just a mere captain—brought over a car which smashed the Segrave mark into atoms. In the excitement over that feat folks forgot all about Kaye Don.

Turning to speedboat racing against time. Don took his Miss England II to Argentina. There, in the wilds of South America, on the Parana river, he set a world's record of 103.49 miles an hour. No man has ever flashed over water at that velocity—gave in an airplane.

However, Don's record wasn't accepted in too good grace by the self-same critics. They thought it was kind of funny that he had to go all the way to a jungle stream, where spectators consisted largely of parrots, monkeys and a startled Indian or two to set such a mark. The truth is, Don set that mark at Buenos Aires, a city about as big as Philadelphia!

But now Don has silenced every unbeliever.
On Lake Garda, Italy, which was a highly civilized center 2,000 years before anyone but Indians had seen the Hudson river, Kaye Don ripped off a speed of 110.2 miles an hour with Miss England II.

JAKIE FLOWERS STARS AT BAT

By COPELAND C. BURG
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 15.—One of the first rules of success is to fool the boss, for if he says you're good, even what his wife thinks won't make any difference.

And that explains why Willard Morrell is still carried today by the New York Giants. Mr. McGraw is convinced Willard is a baseball pitcher and probably will keep on so insisting until he makes a real hurler out of him, despite the fact nearly everyone else has a different opinion.

The revamped Chicago Cubs, considerably far from a great ball club, managed to score seven runs in five innings off Morrell and won, 8 to 4.

Flowers Stars.
Jake Flowers, sold down the river by the Brooklyn Robins, turned on his old pals and indulged in a homer and some other fancy swats so that in the end St. Louis won, 3 to 2.

The great Earnshaw looked like something else as the Tigers actually routed Philadelphia, 12 to 3. Stone hit a homer for Detroit.

Lou Gehrig of the Yankees stepped into the home run marathon lead by hitting Nos. 24 and 25 as the New Yorkers gloomed Cleveland, 19 to 2. However, Mr. Harder was rather exacting in the nightcap and the Yankee bluffs were few and scattered, the Indians winning, 5 to 1. Averill homered in each game for Cleveland.

Reynolds, Sullivan and Appleby led in bruising Fischer and Brown, Washington pitchers, to win 9 to 1 for the Chicago White Sox.

Johnson pitched better ball than Zachary but mental lapses by Tony Ciccinello, Cincinnati second-baseman, brought two costly errors, giving the Boston Braves the game, 3 to 2.

Perrell, Storti and Burns ganged up with singles in the sixth inning, scoring three runs which gave a triumph to the St. Louis Browns over the Boston Sox, 5 to 3.

The Pirates humbled the Phillies twice. Traynor and Paul Waner each drove in three runs in the opener, Pittsburgh taking it, 9 to 4. Phil Collins collapsed in the tenth inning of the finale after turning back the enemy in the ninth with the bases filled. The night cap score was Pirates 4, Phils 3.

MOONSHINE NEARLY FATAL TO YOUTHS

GREENSBURG, Pa., July 15.—William Roselle, 14, and Matthew Tovito, 13, of old Bethany coal works, were found lying unconscious in a field as the result of drinking moonshine by a passing motorist who rushed them to Mt. Pleasant Memorial Hospital. There physicians used stomach pumps and other drastic means to restore consciousness. Both youngsters refused to tell where they had obtained the liquor. They will recover.

Guardians of wealth guard their motors with AMERICAN GAS

Millions of dollars are transported every day by the armored trucks of the Nagle National Detective Agency. With so much at stake there must be no risks—no delays. Only the finest equipment can be used—and only thoroughly dependable gasoline and lubricating oil.

The fact that Orange American Gas and Amoco Motor Oil were chosen for these trucks is a distinct tribute to their excellent qualities. The Nagle organization made thorough tests of many straight gasolines and found that Orange American Gas would outperform any gasoline selling at regular gas price.

If you are a regular user of regular gas—fill 'er up with Orange American Gas today and put it up to your motor.

It won't take you long to realize why Orange American Gas is the choice of hundreds of users of regular gasoline selling at regular gas price.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Selling Volume Heavy On New York Market

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 15.—Weakness in the London and Paris markets, a further drop in German government bonds and little evidence of any improvement in the German situation were the factors which forced prices of American stocks sharply downward in the early trading today. Though only a dozen or more of the leaders fell off more than 2 or 3 points, the downward trend all through the list was more pronounced than in the last few days and the volume of selling was heavier.

German International 5½s fell through to 54½ for a new loss of 3 points and the German Republic 7s, Dawes plan bonds, dropped 7½ points to 80. This reflected chiefly the fear of a moratorium which might for the time being at least suspend interest and possibly amortization payments on both issues, which are the direct obligation of the present German government. Burke And Smith Place Accuracy Above Distance

By ROY GROVE
Central Press Golf Writer

NUMBER 43

The average golfer could learn more from the style and form of Horton Smith than from any other professional in the game.

Smith on all irons and from the tee has the reputation of sporting an abbreviated swing. This means control and a long ball with the use of the wrists, the fundamentals of consistent golf.

Billy Burke, the present national open champion, is not unlike Smith in many respects.

Burke does not depend on distance, but accuracy. He is satisfied with the average drive if it is straight down the middle, and a long iron rolling to the pin.

The average golfer is not content with a well-timed swing, but will try to reach the green from the tee, consequently he loses much of the distance and roll from the drive and the irons are cut to stop short of the green.

Smith's stance takes the club virtually on a straight line with a stiff left arm and he keeps it so throughout the swing. This is done on the driver as well as with the irons. This method gives him complete control and grooves the swing for the downward shot.

With the swing grooved, Smith hits with the right hand on through the ball, punching the right hand out toward the hole.

It is not a hard trick, providing the average golfer will not try to get all the power of his right hand into the ball at the point of contact. Develop the left and punch with the right.

Next—Head and Feet Stationary.

Connie Mack—mighty mahout whose Philadelphia White Elephants are tramping American league opposition into the dust of defeat as they thunder to what looks like their third straight pennant—spent some $416,500 in assembling this championship circus of his.

Well, has it paid? In dollars, we're not talking glory now.

Figures in what the Philadelphia ownership has reaped in the last two world series prove that the cost of assembling this club has been topped by profits from the efforts of these same athletes.

The A's have been a profitable ball club ever since they became pennant contenders. From the two world series—1929 and 1930—the club, exclusive of the individual players' shares, received approximately $250,000. Which means that if the A's win again and enjoy another big series, the cost of putting together this ball club will have been entirely written off by receipts from world series play, the profits for the regular season being gravy.

How did Connie Mack spend that $416,500 which is no mean amount of money in any circles, Wall Street or otherwise?

Well, the biggest chunk went for the purchase in 1925 from Baltimore of Robert Moses (Lefty) Grove. The Orioles received $100,000 for the star southpaw.

George Earnshaw, the big right-handed mound mate of Grove, also was purchased—in 1928—from the Orioles, but cost just half as much as Lefty.

However, the A's got the third big winner of their pitching staff, Rube Walberg, for a measly $7,500, the waiver price. The Giants were dropping Rube and the A's picked him up. That was 'way back in 1923.

LeRoy Mahaffey, youngster who is giving the three aces good assistance, was purchased last year from Portland for $25,000. Another $7,500 went to the Detroit Tigers a few days ago when the A's picked up Waite Hoyt at the waiver price.

Mickey Cochrane, Max Bishop and Al Simmons each cost the Athletics $50,000. Mickey came from Portland in 1924 and Bishop was another of those famous Orioles. Simmons was toiling for Milwaukee when the Mackian bank roll snagged him in 1923.

Joe Boley, a fourth Baltimore player, cost $40,000 in 1927, while Atlanta parted with Mule Haas for $20,000 in 1928.

Jimmy Dykes cost the A's nothing when they signed him in 1927. Bing Miller came to Philadelphia in a swap with St. Louis in which the A's sent Pitcher Sam Gray to the Browns in 1926.

Phil Todd, first baseman, and Joe Heving, catcher, became Athletics at a cost of $7,500 each, Boston letting them go on waivers.

And Jimmy Fox, the great and wins crucial games in the pennant race and world series, Jimmy Fox cost Connie Mack just $2,500, the sum the Eastern club of the Eastern Shore league thought he was worth.

Philadelpha Storm Damage Is Extensive

One Dead, Damage Of Over Million Reported Following Severe Rainstorm

REST OF NATION IS SWELTERING

(International News Service)

Excessive heat and humidity prevailed today throughout most sections of central and eastern United States while at Philadelphia a terrific rainstorm, driven by a 60-mile-an-hour wind, caused one death and did an estimated damage of $1,000,000.

A golf caddy was killed by lightning at East Hanover, N. J. In the vicinity of Port Arthur, Tex., a tropical disturbance was reported sweeping in toward land, propelled by high winds. Heavy rains and a tumbling barometer preceded the storm. Ships all along the coast were observing a storm warning.

Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska, Illinois and Indiana were baking in temperatures which hovered about the 100 degree mark. Sultry southern winds tossed the mercury up to 112 at Yuma, Ariz., while concordia, Kan., Keokuk, Ia., Valentine, Neb., and Springfield, Ill., baked in temperatures of 100 degrees or more. Throughout Indiana temperatures ranged from 91 to 101 degrees with little relief in sight.

Few heat prostrations were reported in the Middle West, however. New York likewise suffered from heat and humidity following heavy lightning storms which wrecked a church at Stanton, N. J., and struck other buildings in New Jersey.

'Ma' Now Is Looking For Mate For Aimee

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—At honeymoon villa, along the ocean, where Mother Minnie Kennedy-Hudson and her new husband, Rev. George Edward ("What-A-Man") Hudson, are enjoying their third week of marital bliss there is but one main object in both of their minds—that is to see "Ma," daughter, Aimee Semple McPherson, famous evangelist, married off to "some nice young fellow!"

"I'm looking for a man for my step daughter right now," laughed Mr. Hudson.

"And if he is half as good a man as you are, dear," smiled "Ma," "he'll be very good indeed."

"It is might hard to come suddenly from a life of peace and seclusion such as I have lived into the focus of the public eye this way," said ("What-A-Man") Hudson.

"Marriage is wonderful but this publicity is hades."

'Ma' Now Is Looking For Mate For Aimee

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—At honeymoon villa, along the ocean, where Mother Minnie Kennedy-Hudson and her new husband, Rev. George Edward ("What-A-Man") Hudson, are enjoying their third week of marital bliss there is but one main object in both of their minds—that is to see "Ma," daughter, Aimee Semple McPherson, famous evangelist, married off to "some nice young fellow!"

"I'm looking for a man for my step daughter right now," laughed Mr. Hudson.

"And if he is half as good a man as you are, dear," smiled "Ma," "he'll be very good indeed."

"It is might hard to come suddenly from a life of peace and seclusion such as I have lived into the focus of the public eye this way," said ("What-A-Man") Hudson.

"Marriage is wonderful but this publicity is hades."

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Perhaps it isn't a new gadget at all, but it's new to me and that's why it gets in today, this sprinkler system for youngsters that some of the best families are affecting these sultry afternoons. Looks like a ten foot section of half inch pipe, with a shower head attached at the top. Park the kids out in the yard, connect the shower staff, and away you go.

Just now it is confined to the youngsters but if the weather keeps up, some hardy soul will start using them for adults and after that it won't be long until the Society Page carries something like this. "Mr. and Mrs. Joe Doax entertained last night at a shower party on the lawn of their Hollyhock avenue home. Fifty guests were present, most of them were all wet."

Or why not rubber bridge decks, with a couple of rubbers of bridge under the shower. Sprinkling cans and lengths of garden hose could be used for prizes, and the lunch could consist of water wafers and a lemon. You could mix your own drinks.

Not that New Castle has exceptionally hot weather. The hills surrounding us keep the temperature up a few degrees higher than in cities to the west of us, and those newspaper articles describing deaths from the heat, are not coming out of New Castle.

Seems like something is wrong this summer, no fish stories coming in. Ordinarily at this time there would be half a dozen good ones, some of them nearly good enough to believe, but apparently the disciples of Old Man Walton are telling the truth this season. Or something.

Justice sometimes travels on leaden feet but finally gets to the end of the road. The former secretary of the interior, Mr. Fall has finally consented to do the hitch in jail, that was pronounced two years ago, the cause for which goes back seven years. The fact that a man of his station would stoop to the crime for which he was found guilty is a rather unsavory commentary upon our public officials, but the fact that he will have to do his bit in jail, just like an ordinary criminal, is a refreshing commentary upon the enforcement of law.

Some of us have a record for church attendance the past few days. The opening of the Epworth church on East Washington street and Butler avenue has been responsible for it, and if you haven't seen the inside of it, drop around tonight.

Many Requests Are Received For Cans

Citizens With Surplus Jars, Are Asked To Donate Them To Unemployed

Many additional requests for cans have been received by the committee in charge of the community gardens for the unemployed, and New Castle citizens who have a surplus of jars are asked to donate them to the committee.

Arrangements have been made to receive the jars at the Associated Charities or Red Cross offices, and those who are unable to bring them there may have them called for if they will notify the secretaries of these two organizations, phone 5084.

Most of those who made gardens have a little surplus of the different crops raised, and by canning it now they will be able to lay aside a little supply for the winter.

This is a worthwhile project and one in which almost every citizen can assist.

Plans were made for a breakfast and swim at Cascade Park Thursday morning at 9 o'clock.

The next meeting will be next month at the home of Mrs. Richard Rhineberger, Clayton street.

Observations In 7th Ward

A discussion started several days ago among several local people on the question—"How many streets are there in Seventh Ward?" A lot of counting was commenced and it was decided there are about thirty-three streets actually within the bounds. But there may be more and there may be less.

At any rate, here is the list as arranged by the discussers—Arch, Ashland, Blanchard, Bolt, Clayton, Cherry, Cedar, Darlington, Eighth, First, Fourth, Fifth, Forge, Lacoek, Liberty, Lafayette, Maple, Madison, Mahoning, Montgomery, Newell, Orchard, Power, Rabbit, Swansea, Second, Sixth, Seventh, Tremont, Third, Wilder, Wayne, Wabash.

Someone brought up the streets Hobart, McKinley and Preston but another argued that those are not in the bounds of Seventh Ward.

Officer Clarence Campbell says that on Monday afternoon a blonde haired, overvalued lad came to him and remarked with a long face—"You know, I don't know what I'm getting for Christmas." Campbell told the youngster that he had better hurry up and decide.

Rev. David Daye Sleppey of the Mahoning M. E. says that prayer meeting tonight will be held in the coolest place in New Castle—the basement of the church, and he asks that a crowd come and find out.

The planks over a manhole at the side of the B. and O. station decided they had served long enough, Tuesday, and so when Joe Phillips parked his car on the planks, they wilted. The wheel of the car went down a few inches but was easily driven over.

Those young fellows who built the West Cherry street tennis court deserve great credit for their perseverance and hard work. There is plenty of perspiration connected with making a tennis court and some real ability to make such an excellent one as these boys have made.

Tea parties seem to be the thing among the very young female set. The lawn is used for the table, dishes and miniature utensils are used and the afternoons are pleasantly spent in drinking water. Dollies are special guests.

Day by day the power sub-station on North Cedar street is looking better and better—bushes, pretty flowers, shrubbery, etc., make the sub-station a place of attractiveness. Gardens in seventh ward are looking fine and the yield should furnish many breakfasts and dinners for many families this summer. Among the nicest gardens in the downtown district are that of the fire station and that at the corner of Liberty and Madison.

Two umbrella menders were seen near the viaduct Tuesday afternoon, walking along and jingling their bells.

John Dille of North Cedar street agrees with the writer that the weather is entirely too hot and that the weather-man seems to have a poor sense of judgment. But when it was suggested that we should have a weather-woman, instead of a weather-man, he balked. His reason for disagreeing with the suggestion was because a woman would get so mixed up with the job that we would have no weather at all.

Auxiliary Has Meeting Tuesday

Miss Evelyn Marshall of North Cedar street, was hostess to members of the M. E. G. Auxiliary, of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church Tuesday evening at her home. The meeting was interesting and enjoyable and was quite well attended.

Mrs. Helen Alexander had charge of the devotionals. The topic was in charge of Mrs. F. W. Guy and Mrs. Clarence Patterson. Roll call was answered by naming the ten plagues.

Youth Drowns In Large Reservoir

Doctor, Firemen And Reservoir Crew Members Fail To Resuscitate Youth

(International News Service) GREENSBURG, Pa., July 15.—Despite a valiant three-hour battle which a physician, firemen and reservoir crew members waged in the attempt to resuscitate Clyde Burkhardt, 7, of Hannastown, when they recovered his body 15 minutes after the lad fell into the Hannastown reservoir, their efforts met with failure today. The lad was drowned in four feet of water.

Clyde, son of Mrs. C. W. Burkhardt of Hannastown, was believed to have fallen into the reservoir from the boat platform. Robert Miller, of Greensburg, recovered the body shortly after the lad was seen to be missing.

Telephone Service At Scottdale Put Out Of Commission

Trolley Wire Falls Across Telephone Cable Line, Crippling Communication

(International News Service) SCOTSDALE, Pa., July 15.—Telephone company workers strove today to restore this city's telephone service, completely paralyzed when a trolley wire of the West Penn Railways company fell across a telephone cable and threw every telephone in the town out of commission. Damage in equipment and labor was estimated at $25,000 by Bell Telephone company officials.

Six hundred private telephones were rendered useless and 53 toll lines, leaving the town virtually isolated. Small fires followed the accident in each home where a telephone was located.

A traction company pole had broken near the top, sending the wire hurling onto the telephone cable. Workers were hastily recruited from nearby communities by the telephone company and rushed to this town.

Salvation Army Budget Committee Named By Chairman

Will Work Out Program Of Needs Of Organization For The Coming Year

Announcement was made today by William M. White, chairman of the Salvation Army Advisory board of his selection of a budget committee, which will meet and act in the near future on the program of needs of the organization for the coming year, which will be made known to the Community Chest and to the general public. The committee will make its plans this month.

Due to the fact that the work of the organization among the needy of the city had to be curtailed to some extent during the past year owing to the fact that the budget appropriation had to be cut, the budget this year will present the need of a larger sum of money to be used in carrying on the relief activities of the organization.

The members of the committee are J. C. Mier, Phil G. Greer, W. S. Reese, H. K. Bell and William M. White. Ensign V. Thomsen, officer in charge will be on ex-officio member of the committee.
